

13th Annual
Michigan Statewide Conference

CHILD ABUSE AND NEGLECT

Prevention, Assessment & Treatment

October 17-18, 1994

Co-Sponsored by
University of Michigan Hospitals Child Protection Team
Michigan Committee to Prevent Child Abuse
University of Michigan Medical School

At the Towsley Center

Ann Arbor, Michigan

Professionals working in the area of child abuse and neglect face a number of diverse and difficult problems. One of the most critical is the increasing demand on service with a marked decrease in resources to meet those demands. A second is the increasingly complex cases professionals are faced with – families with multiple problems such as substance abuse, domestic violence, physical and developmental disabilities, and mental illness. Families from different cultural and religious backgrounds often require special techniques to assist them. Child abuse professionals may have few peers, may feel isolated from essential contact with other professionals, and have little support and encouragement for what is often difficult work. Specific expertise on certain topics may not be accessible in their geographic area, and different areas may face a varying level of coordination of services. Professionals in this field may face a high level of burnout due to the pain and stress of continuously confronting child abuse and neglect.

Program Objectives

This conference has multiple goals:

The first is to enhance awareness among professionals working with children and families regarding different aspects of the issue of child abuse and neglect.

The second is to build concrete skills for the identification, assessment, treatment and prevention of child abuse and neglect and to develop methods to coordinate services.

The third is to bring professionals from the entire state together in a forum to share information and ideas about child abuse and neglect and to build support networks.

Experts from throughout the country will address participants as a whole and in small group settings through panels, workshops and multi-media presentations. Course participants will have the opportunity to learn about other programs and methods through information tables and booths.

Participants will have the opportunity to encounter state-of-the-art information about child abuse and neglect to aid them in developing new perspectives in their work and the chance to share ideas and resources with colleagues throughout the State of Michigan.

The conference is designed for professionals working with families, including: law enforcement personnel, physicians, nurses, mental health professionals, protective services workers, prevention specialists, attorneys, teachers, social workers, psychologists and psychiatrists.

Workshops

Keynote: What Children Can Tell Us About Living with Violence

This presentation focuses on the impact of violence in the lives of children (particularly preadolescent children). It includes violence at home, in the community and in the mass media.

James Garbarino, PhD

Keynote: Growing Up in a Socially Toxic Environment: Childhood in the 1990's

This presentation explores the proposition that life for kids in the 90's offers a much more "socially toxic" environment than it did for kids in the 50's.

James Garbarino, PhD

WORKSHOPS SESSION I.

1. Children as Witnesses: Myths and Facts

Dr. Poole will present a summary of research on child witness memories of events. The presentation will include research on implanted testimony, and a discussion of the difficult issues the research has raised.

Debra A. Poole, PhD

2. Adoption as a Solution for Abused Children

The panel will discuss the requirements and limitations of adoptive homes for abused children. Case illustrations will be presented.

Elinor Rosenberg, MSW

Ruth Drasin, PhD

Charles Graham, MSW

3. Expert Testimony

This workshop will provide mental health and medical experts' practical information about testifying in child abuse and neglect cases. Attorneys may find the session helpful also.

Suelyn Scarnecchia, JD

4. Family Preservation and Support Services

The Family Preservation and Support Services Program provides resources for states to develop community-based systems of care that will strengthen families and protect children. Michigan is planning how to use $35 million in new federal funding. This workshop will provide participants with information about the program.

Susan Kelly, MSW

WORKSHOPS - SESSION II.

1. Conducting Interviews of Young Children

Practical advice will be given on how to best interview young children who may be victims of sexual abuse.

Debra A. Poole, PhD

2. The Impact of Early Sexual Abuse on Children's Ability to Form Healthy Attachments

Attachment is critical for children to develop appropriately. Sexual Abuse interferes with the normal attachment process. Children demonstrate specific behaviors related to attachment difficulties. Those difficulties will be explored and discussed.

Y. Hubbard Richardson, MSW, CSW

3. Where Do We Draw the Line: Issues on Child Abuse and Neglect

The child protection system is overwhelmed throughout the country. It is critical that Child Protective Services center its resources on fulfilling its mandate; and in order to accomplish this, everyone must have a common understanding of what Child Protective Services can and cannot do. Michigan has initiated a cross-discipline work group which will operationally define child abuse and neglect. The efforts of the work group will be disseminated.

JoAnne Nagy, MBA

4. Healthy Families Initiative

The Healthy Families Initiative is based on Hawaii's Healthy Start Model. Its goal is to prevent child abuse before it starts. Mothers are contacted in the hospitals after the birth of their child. Risk factors are assessed to determine which families can most benefit from home visits and supportive services. This program is being promoted by the National Committee to Prevent Child Abuse. Mike Foley will lead the discussion and share his knowledge of the program and experiences with various interested committees in Michigan. Three panelists will then share their programs.

Mike Foley, MSW

Nancy Skula, BS

Kay Kearly, RN

V. Gail Simpson, MSW, ACSW

Plenary Presentation: Developmental/Educational Implications of Prenatal Exposure to Alcohol and Other Drugs

The national media's warnings of the impending arrival of "crack kids" in our schools implies that all children prenatally exposed to drugs "especially cocaine" suffer permanent intellectual and behavioral impairment. To date, however, there is little research which supports that notion.

Dan R. Griffith, PhD

WORKSHOPS - SESSION III.

1. Caretaking Strategies for Infants/Children Exposed Prenatally To Alcohol and Other Drugs

Maternal substance abuse during pregnancy may result in fragile, disorganized infants who are difficult to care for. Many infants exposed prenatally to alcohol and other drugs have low thresholds for over-stimulation which interfere with their abilities to interact with caregivers. Some of these infants avoid social interactions by withdrawing into deep sleep states. Others are unable to self-regulate and respond to caretaker stimulation with inconsolable crying.

As children prenatally exposed to alcohol and other drugs get older, many continue to display self-regulatory problems. Strategies for using a threshold model as a means to providing appropriate behavioral interventions for these children will be presented.

Dan R. Griffith, PhD

2. Translating Medical Terminology: Genital Anatomy, Sexually Transmitted Diseases and Medical Findings in Sexual Abuse

For non-medical professionals who are required to understand cryptic medical reports.

Clyde L. Owings, MD, PhD

3. Early On Michigan: Early Intervention for Infants and Toddlers

Infants and toddlers with disabilities/developmental delay/established conditions such as failure-to-thrive or atypical development related to abuse or neglect are eligible for evaluation, service coordination and planning, and early intervention services under Part H of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, implemented as Early On Michigan. An overview of this interagency system, referral and community networks for services will be presented.

Jacquelyn Thompson, MA

4. It Is Good to Tell the Truth: Interviewing Children

The team approach of a prosecuting attorney and advocate working together to gather accurate information regarding child abuse will be explained. You will receive hands-on interviewing techniques. Also discussed will be dynamics of child victims, child development, child competency and the legal definition of sexual penetration.

Nancy J. Diehl, JD

Lynda Baker, MA

WORKSHOPS - SESSION IV.

1. Adult Male Survivors of Childhood Sexual Abuse

This 1-1/2 hour workshop will use videotape, lecture and discussion to focus on the assessment and treatment of adult male survivors of childhood sexual abuse.

Ian MacGregor, ACSW

Rick S. Reinsmith, MA, LLP

2. Promoting Positive Infant Caregiving in Families at Risk for Child Maltreatment

The presentation will provide participants with a conceptual framework for understanding and promoting the early infant-caregiver relationship in overburdened families. Videotaped clinical case illustrations will be presented and discussed.

Susan McDonough, PhD, MSW

3. Women Who Sexually Abuse Children

The presenter will discuss characteristics of female sexual offenders and how they differ from male offenders. Contexts in which both intra and extrafamilial female offenders are found will be described. Their treatability and case management strategies will be covered. The presenter will draw upon research, clinical experience and case examples.

Kathleen Coulborn Faller, PhD, ACSW

4. Teen Parent Services

Participants will receive information on the high risk nature of teen parents across the US and Michigan. Presenters will discuss Teen Parent programs in Genesee and Saginaw Counties.

Mary Ellen Johnson, BSW

Deirdre Walker, MA, MPH

WORKSHOPS - SESSION V.

1. Dissociative Disorders and Multiple Personality Disorder

Dissociation: A Predictable, Post-Traumatic Sequelae of Childhood Sexual Victimization Specific examination of how issues of perpetration permeate the experience of all survivors of childhood sexual abuse. Dr. Klein will draw upon personal experience as a treater of both victims and sexual offenders.

Larry Klein, PhD

2. Psychological Testing as Part of a Collaborative Consultation with the DSS in Situations of Abuse and Neglect

This workshop will describe the role of psychological testing as part of collaborative consultation/evaluation between the DSS and a child and family training agency. Special emphasis will be placed on the role that the results of psychological testing played in evaluating the status of children and parents involved in court abuse and neglect proceedings, and in formulating recommendations both to the DSS and court.

Jerry Miller, PhD

Elaine Zaks, MSW

Jean Aubuchon, MSW

3. False Allegations of Sexual Abuse: What Does the Research Say?

This presentation will address current concerns about false allegations by examining research addressing the reliability of children's testimony, allegations of abuse in divorce and custody cases, estimates of "true" and "false" allegations in various populations, and cases involving children in churches, day care programs and other institutions. Criteria for evaluating cases will also be discussed. Professionals working in any capacity with children may be interested in this material.
