Program Objectives

The Conference Planning Committee is pleased to invite you to join us for our 20th Anniversary. We have seen many advances over the past 20 years and we have learned a great deal about the prevention, investigation and treatment of child abuse and neglect. Throughout the years, we have tried to provide up to date information on best practice standards in child maltreatment and we believe this year's conference will continue in that tradition.

This conference is designed for all professionals working with children and families including: law enforcement personnel, physicians, nurses, mental health professionals, protective services and foster care workers, prevention specialists, attorneys, teachers, social workers, psychologists, psychiatrists and all others interested in keeping our children safe and working toward lessening the violence in our society.

The Monday keynote address, Building Positive, Proactive, Productive Adults by Ron Johnson will enlighten attendees on strategies needed to heal and develop youth who have suffered abuse. He will focus on the need to socialize or re-socialize children, adolescents and their parents so that the children may become viable adults. Mr. Johnson is the Executive Director of National Family Life and Education Center in Los Angeles, California and his personal and professional experiences will offer new insight on this issue.

The Tuesday keynote will be presented by David Austin Sky and his topic is Wisdom from Childhood. He is a storyteller who tells original stories that empower you to gain skills and insights and stretch you to explore everyday issues in a new perspective. David's background in counseling gives him a wonderful perspective to observe and report on human behavior. Gain new ways of listening as he explains how our stories are all similar and how stories allow us to connect with one another. To help others, you need to understand their stories.

This year there are 25 workshops available to meet the needs of professionals from varied disciplines and with differing levels of experience. Participants can choose from such topics as domestic violence, worker safety and assessing attachment. Experts from across the country will present these workshops in a variety of ways including use of question and answer, lecture, video, and slides. In addition, each participant will receive a course syllabus that includes outlines and articles from many of the presenters.

On Monday evening, the Michigan Professional Society on the Abuse of Children, Inc. will hold their annual meeting and election of officers. All conference attendees are encouraged to attend and become a part of this organization.

We hope you will enjoy the conference and that by attending you will have been able to build upon your existing knowledge of abuse and neglect by:

- increasing concrete skills in the areas of prevention, assessment, intervention and treatment
- obtaining new perspectives in your work with children and families
- networking with others
- and being refreshed

The fact that this conference has continued for 20 years is testament to both the dedication of the hard-working professionals in our field and to the need for a place where we can gather to learn the best ways of protecting and caring for our children.

Come help us celebrate our 20th Anniversary.

Keynote: Building Positive, Proactive, Productive Adults

This keynote will focus on the need to socialize or re-socialize children, adolescents, and their parents so that they may heal and become viable adults. The presentation will provide the audience with readily applicable strategies that they can apply at home and at work with youth and adults to give each a better sense of adulthood and the skills required to function in society. Information will be shared on the necessity and strategies for enhancing self-esteem, building a positive self image, self respect, a personal life vision, a personal life plan and the need for and how to develop discipline.

Ron Johnson, BS

WORKSHOP SESSION I - Monday, October 22 10:30-12:00

1. Child Development (0-5): Who's at Risk? Part I

Sponsored by FIA Early On Collaboration

This workshop will provide participants with grounding in children's development from birth through age 5. Learn about milestones, difficulties and red flags, when to refer, and ideas for how to help parents understand why their child is behaving a certain way.

Holly Brophy-Herb, PhD

2. Recognizing and Understanding Adolescent Male Sex Offenders

This workshop will cover a variety of topics concerning adolescent male sex offenders, including developmental etiologies, clinical presentations, co-existing psychiatric disorders, and residential treatment. Also included will be a video tape of an adolescent sex offender interview.

Albert J. Sayed, MD

3. Media Images and Male Violence

We will view segments of Jackson Katz's video 'Tough Guise' in an effort to understand the influence media and popular culture have on constructing a violent masculinity. Males aren't born violent; however, through male socialization, men learn that anything less than being tough, powerful and in control is seen and experienced as weak, a loser, or somehow less of a real man. Come learn and discuss how we as professionals, parents and adults can effect positive change in an area that is badly needed. How many more school shootings, rapes and violent acts need to occur before our society takes a close look at how we are raising our sons and the role of media images?

Randy Flood, MA

4. Child Abuse 101: An Introduction to the Medical Evaluation of Child Maltreatment

This introduction to the medical findings and evaluation process will address common patterns of abuse and neglect and will incorporate new information to help physicians, law enforcement and Children's Protective Services workers to better identify and evaluate suspected child abuse and neglect.

Vincent J. Palusci, MD

5. Rites of Passage Part I

The Rites of Passage (Part I) will focus on youth character and skill development. The Rites of Passage Program is a highly interactive youth development program. The Ten Steps Rites of Passage, created by Ron Johnson, is a social recovery plan for youth and their caregivers designed to harvest productive adults for our communities and the nation. The Program focuses on key issues of socialization impacting the Spiritual, Emotional, Social, Personal, Mental, Cultural, Historical, Political, Economic, and Physical Health and Well Being of all participants. The Rites that will be examined in this workshop include the Personal, Social, Emotional, Mental, and Physical Rite of Passage.

Ron Johnson, BS

WORKSHOP SESSION II - Monday, October 22 1:00-2:30

1. Child Development (0-5): Who's at Risk (Continuation of Part I but you may attend without attending Part I)

Sponsored by FIA Early On Collaboration

This workshop will provide participants with grounding in children's development from birth through age 5. Learn about milestones, difficulties and red flags, when to refer, and ideas for how to help parents understand why their child is behaving a certain way.

Holly Brophy-Herb, PhD

2. Children's Advocacy Centers: A Community Response to Child Abuse

This workshop will increase understanding of the background, history, philosophy and benefits of the Children's Advocacy Center approach to child abuse. It will identify common program elements or components of the CAC model, and explore the unique programmatic options that can be adopted to meet the needs of the sponsoring community. It will also define what steps are commonly taken in moving from concept to reality in developing a Children's Advocacy Center.

Leah Johnson

3. Profiles and Treatment of Domestic Violence Offenders

Participants will learn about the cultural and psychological factors that contribute to men's abusive and controlling behavior toward women and children. We will define the scope of abusive behavior in terms of how men use various tactics to gain and maintain control over their partner and children. We will look at various profiles of abusive men with emphasis on various treatment strategies for such men. It can be very challenging to work with families where domestic abuse is occurring so we will spend time on the family dynamics.

Randy Flood, MA

4. Rites of Passage Part II

The second half of the presentation will focus on the remaining five Rites of Passage. They include the Spiritual, Cultural, Political, Economic, and Historical Rites of passage. Originally designed for African American youth, this model program has been adapted to include the history and culture of Latino youth and lends itself to adaptation by the multicultural landscape of the service communities. This highly successful model has been adopted by public schools, community based organizations and the faith community.

Ron Johnson, BS

5. Evaluation, Investigation and Court Involvement in Suspected Munchausen by Proxy Cases Part I

Using an actual case example, the presenters will discuss how to use a multidisciplinary approach to making a diagnosis of Munchausen by Proxy Syndrome. It will include gathering all the evidence, making a diagnosis and presenting the case to the court.

Part I will be a presentation of the facts of the case. Part II will be a panel discussion by the physician, psychologist, prosecutor and FIA worker involved in the case and how they worked together to make a case of Munchausen by Proxy.

*Elaine S. Pomeranz, MD; Shauna Tindall, PhD;
Donald N. Duquette, JD; Jill Griffin*

WORKSHOP SESSION III - Monday, October 22 2:45-4:15

1. Evaluation and Investigation of Suspected Munchausen by Proxy Cases (Continued)

This is a continuation of the workshop presented at 1:00 pm.

The physician, psychologist, prosecutor and FIA worker will discuss their involvement in an actual case and how they worked together to develop a case of Munchausen by Proxy.

*Elaine S. Pomeranz, MD; Shauna Tindall, PhD;
Donald N. Duquette, JD; Jill Griffin*

2. Dog Bite Prevention

Presentation of three typical types or emotions that cause dogs to bite. Teaching how to diffuse and ultimately deal with any dog. Live demonstrations, including trained dogs, bring the point home.

Cheryl Carlson

3. Adolescents: What Are They Thinking?

Brain research has revealed new information about brain development in teenagers. Old thinking was that the structure of the brain was complete in adolescence, but new technology has made it possible to demonstrate that the teen brain is a work in progress.

This workshop will explore current research about the development of teen brains, including new discoveries that offer insight into the choices and behaviors that can baffle adults. Implications of the research for parents, as well as for service providers and policy-makers, will be explored.

Pat Crum

4. Play Therapy with Traumatized Children

This presentation will focus on fundamentals of play therapy from various clinical perspectives ranging from non-directive to highly directive approaches. The presentation will include videotaped examples of therapeutic play with young and school-aged children, ultimately proposing a method that integrates directive and non-directive techniques.

Laura Sanders, MSW, ACSW

5. Fatherhood Sensitive Case Practice - 'Dads Make A Difference'

A discussion on the national movement to increase the responsible involvement of fathers in the lives of their children, exploration as to the consequences of fatherlessness on children, and examination of societal values about father involvement, paternity establishment, family preservation, and family visitation. This workshop will also introduce case practice which supports fathers and encourages child welfare workers to examine their own personal values toward father involvement in the lives of children in the child welfare system.

KEYNOTE: Wisdom From Childhood

Sponsored by FIA Early On Collaboration

The Tuesday keynote will be presented by David Austin Sky. He is a storyteller who will show you how the art of storytelling can change how you listen. Storylistening is an enjoyable and creative way to listen at a deep level. This ability teaches how to ask powerful questions, how to hear the hidden stories and how to use stories to help others.

David Austin Sky, MA

WORKSHOP SESSION IV - Tuesday, October 23 10:30-12:00

1. Personal Safety for Home-Based and Community Workers

We often don't understand the anxiety that we create in the children, adults and families that we serve. This anxiety can produce a variety of behaviors in people, including aggressive and violent acting-out. This workshop will discuss worker safety in the field-on the streets, in homes, in rural areas. The emphasis will be on heightening everyone's awareness of personal safety.

Terry Hood

2. Bathtub Burns: Is Common Sense All Wet?

This presentation will focus on a study in progress, evaluating the ability of healthy 10-18 month old children to climb into a standard bathtub. The purpose of the study is to help in the differentiation of accidental and intentional scald injuries. Videotape of children's efforts to climb into a bathtub will be shown.

David Allasio, MSW; Howard Fischer, MD

3. The Intersection of Domestic Violence and Child Welfare: Implications for Battered Women and Their Children

The nature of child abuse/neglect cases is altered by the presence of domestic violence. The inherent differences compel us all to rethink and refocus the nature and scope of our response to these cases in order to provide consistent and high-quality services to victims. This workshop will examine the linkages between child abuse/neglect and domestic violence as well as offer approaches for best practice response.

Sarah Heuser; Leslie Hagen

4. The Alcoholic Family Sculpture

This living sculpture will vividly point out the roles the family members take when there is substance abuse. You will be able to observe the signs of abuse, the effect on the family and ways of helping each member.

David Austin Sky, MA

5. Assessing Attachment

This workshop will focus on how attachment occurs. The various attachment processes that begin even before birth will be discussed. Concrete, observable behaviors that indicate attachment will help participants learn more about what to look for when observing parent-child interaction.

Yvwanita H. Richardson, MSW, CSW

WORKSHOP SESSION V Tuesday, October 23 1:15-2:45

1. Personal Safety for Home-Based and Community Workers REPEAT

We often don't understand the anxiety that we create in the children, adults and families that we serve. This anxiety can produce a variety of behaviors in people, including aggressive and violent acting-out. This workshop will discuss worker safety in the field-on the streets, in homes, in rural areas. The emphasis will be on heightening everyone's awareness of personal safety.

Terry Hood

2. Mandatory Petitions Under ASFA and Binsfield: Legal Requirements and Realities

Both the federal Adoption and Safe Families Act and Michigan's Child Protection Law contain provisions for mandatory petitions to be filed in certain cases of child abuse and neglect. This workshop will examine the specific circumstances under which the law mandates that a petition be filed, the circumstances under which the Family Independence Agency must seek termination of parental rights in a mandatory petition, strategies (for both social workers and attorneys) for approaching these cases and practical concerns that arise in the context of these requirements.

Frank E. Vandervort, JD

3. Removing Children From Home: Protocol to Help Deal with the Trauma

This workshop will assist the participant in identifying characteristics of children experiencing grief, trauma and loss. It will give a sample protocol for when you are dealing with children and are petitioning to remove, and will assist you in dealing with the stress you are experiencing. In addition, this workshop will help you in developing services related to loss for children in foster care.

Kevin Hogan, MS

4. For People Like Us: Dealing with Stress and Negativity

This workshop will show you how to use self-care to manage stress and negativity. You will learn to use your strengths when stress and negativity surround you. Practical ways to be gentle with yourself will be presented in this relaxing workshop. Self-care is how we treat ourselves in this fast paced world by enjoying and simplifying our lives.

David Austin Sky, MA

5. The Angry Child: Identifying the Feelings Behind the Anger and Developing a Safe Alternative Plan to Deal with the Feelings

Handling children's anger and aggression can be overwhelming, since we as adults have been led to believe anger is bad and children are often made to feel guilty for expressing this anger. It is our goal to learn to accept these feelings and to help channel and direct them to constructive ends. Adult skills can help children express their feelings in acceptable behavior. We need to be able to identify what triggered the outburst and what actions can be taken to protect and then teach the child alternative ways to express those feelings.
